

Rev. Dr. Angelique Walker Smith and former newscaster Barbara Boyd recently were among several Hoosiers interviewed by The HistoryMakers. The organization profiles notable Black historical figures. Pictured are Walker-Smith(left), Boyd and HistoryMakers founder and executive director Julieanna Richardson (center).

HistoryMakers come to town

Special to The Recorder

The HistoryMakers recently visited Indianapolis to interview former newscaster Barbara Boyd, William Mays of Mays Chemical Co. and The Indianapolis Recorder, musician and poet Carl Hines, Rev. Angelique Walker Smith, executive director/minister of the Church Federation of Greater Indianapolis and co-host of the Odyssey network program "Odyssey Big Screen," and the legendary former Pacer Jerry Harkness.

In fact, Barbara Boyd graciously opened up her house to The HistoryMakers' crew.

"Barbara Boyd's house provided the perfect environment for taping these interviews," said founder and executive director Julieanna Richardson. "This was a wonderful and worthwhile visit. Indianapolis is rich in African-

See HISTORY, Page C2

The Indianapolis Recorder
8-11-00

OVER →