Since its inception, The HistoryMakers, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit headquartered in Chicago, has grown to become the digital repository for the black experience. With education as its mission and the Library of Congress as its official repository, this one-of-a-kind collection provides an unprecedented and irreplaceable physical and online record of African American lives, accomplishments, and contributions through unique first-person testimony. Over the past twenty-two years, over 3,471 video oral history interviews (12,000 hours) have been recorded in 451 cities and towns, Mexico, the Caribbean, and Europe across a variety of disciplines. Contained within the collection are the stories of Alonzo Pettie, the oldest living black cowboy, statesman General Colin Powell, and poets Nikki Giovanni and Sonia Sanchez. Also included are 211 of the nation’s top scientists such as Katherine Johnson, who was featured in the Hollywood movie Hidden Figures; civic leaders C.T. Vivian and Marion Wright Edelman; music icons Berry Gordy and Quincy Jones; business leaders former Amex CEO Ken Chenault, former Merck CEO Ken Frazier, and former Xerox CEO Ursula Burns; lawyers former U.S. Attorney General Eric Holder and NAACP Legal Defense Fund president Sherrilyn Ifill; political leaders Congresswoman Maxine Waters, the late Congressman John Lewis; and President Barack Obama (when he was an Illinois State Senator); as well as New York Times columnist Charles Blow, artist Theaster Gates, museum director Thelma Golden, restauranteur Marcus Samuelsson, and entrepreneur Daymond John. The HistoryMakers’ website, accessed by millions worldwide, is cited in Wikipedia as well as numerous articles and used as a “go-to” reference tool. To date, The HistoryMakers Digital Archive has been licensed by 187 colleges, universities (Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Stanford, Howard, Spelman, Ohio State, University of Oregon, etc.), K-12 schools, public libraries (Chicago, New York, Cleveland, Houston, Los Angeles, Miami, Charlotte, etc.) corporations, and museums for use by faculty, students, staff, and patrons. This has been particularly relevant in the COVID and post-COVID era with its heightened focus on online learning. The HistoryMakers Digital Archive now and well into the future will provide a more complete understanding of who we are as Americans, where we have come from, and where we are going as a nation.
Greetings!

Were you aware that in 2022 we recommenced our pre-pandemic work, scaled up our interview operations, launched groundbreaking partnerships including with the NFL, grew our K-12 and higher education footprint, launched a new, user-friendly website (www.thehistorymakers.org), and relaunched our WomanMakers initiative? It was also the year that former Xerox CEO Ursula Burns and Kitt Shapiro, the daughter of the legendary performer Eartha Kitt, announced that The HistoryMakers would serve as the digital repository for Ursula Burns and Eartha Kitt. Ford Foundation President Darren Walker also committed $1 million to The HistoryMakers Digitization Initiative. Since 2020, we have raised $12.3 million, moving us closer to our $20 million campaign goal.

Interviews

At The HistoryMakers, the average cost to research, record, digitize, transcribe and process each interview is $6,000. Our goal is to create and maintain a permanent record to educate generations for years to come. Thanks to American Airlines, Boeing, Ursula Burns, the Enterprise Holdings Foundation, and the McCormick Foundation, our crews travelled this year to 34 U.S. cities and towns as well as Vienna and Hamburg to interview 150 HistoryMakers. They include the 14th Secretary of the Smithsonian Lonnie G. Bunch, III, NMAAHC Director Kevin Young, lawyer and professor Anita Hill, journalists Yamiche Alcindor and Rehema Ellis, filmmakers Kasi Lemmons and Vondie Curtis Hall, opera legends Grace Melzia Bumbry and Reri Grist Thomson, and fashion model Veronica Webb, among others. Their testimonies provide a rare inside look into some of our nation’s most iconic individuals while spanning different time periods, geographic locations and careers. In fact, Max Van Peebles, son of the legendary filmmaker Melvin Van Peebles, called The HistoryMakers from Paris to let us know that our interview of his late father “gave our family insights into his early life that we never knew.” However, there are many gaps still remaining in our interview record.

Education

In 2022, The HistoryMakers piloted a new, but very timely curriculum titled AchievementMakers: It’s Cool To Succeed (Loss to Thriving and Becoming a FutureMaker) in classrooms in Atlanta, Chicago and Charlotte thanks to funding from the New York Life Foundation. Also, its use has expanded to the entire Southland/Matteson School District 162 thanks to Superintendent Dr. Blondean Davis. More schools will follow. Additionally, institutions subscribing to The HistoryMakers Digital Archive have grown from 65 to 187. They include Claremont Colleges, John Hopkins University, MIT, Wellesley College, the University of Southern California and HBCUs like Lincoln University, Southern University and A&M College, Tuskegee University, Xavier University of Louisiana, Mississippi Valley State University, and Hampton University, among others, as well as the New Orleans Public Library, Dallas Public Library, Shreve Memorial Library, Getty Research Institute, and more. These institutions provide students, faculty, and patrons free access to our unique content. Furthermore, thanks to funding from Boeing, Bank of America, the Knight Foundation and Toyota, we have seven faculty fellows and fourteen student ambassadors who are championing use of The HistoryMakers Digital Archive on their campuses. In addition, HistoryMakers Jylla and Curtis Tearte have stepped forward to fund The HistoryMakers Digital Archive, faculty fellowships and student ambassador programs for five years on the Livingstone College campus. Also, HistoryMakers Diane and Craig Welburn have stepped forward to donate access to The HistoryMakers Digital Archive to faculty and students at Cheyney University. If you are interested in doing likewise, please let us know!

Sincerely,

Julieanna L. Richardson

To date, $12.3 million has been raised, including $1 million gifts from Baldwin Richardson Foods/Eric G. Johnson, The Boeing Company, Ursula Burns, Ford Foundation Center for Social Justice, Andrea W. and Kenneth C. Frazier, and Lincoln Financial Group. Successful completion of The HistoryMakers 20@2020 capital campaign will allow The HistoryMakers to significantly increase its holdings to also include modern day African American leaders to its collection, and to become the digital repository for the Black experience. For this national treasure, with an impressive track record of accomplishment, the need is urgent as many 20th century contributors pass away or memories fade, thereby risking the loss of important history.

The $20 million raised is being invested as follows:

- Additional interviews added to The HistoryMakers archives based on historical importance, region, age, gender, and careers ($11 million: 1,800 interviews x $6,000);
- Development and implementation of short- and long-term technology strategies and plans developed with the tech community ($4 million);
- Increasing public awareness of the archive and user engagement ($3 million); and
- Hiring and retaining additional staff and maintenance of infrastructure critical to the support of current and future operations ($2 million).

As a stronger, more robust organization enabled by the success of its capital campaign, The HistoryMakers will rescue 20th Century African American history that we are at risk of losing by creating a more thorough account of American history. The HistoryMakers will also serve as a model for others who have marginalized accounts in order to bring their own histories out of the darkness and into the light.

“The resources shared by The HistoryMakers are extensive and provides students with numerous examples of contributions via the archives.”

$100,000 Gift

In 2022, The HistoryMakers entered into a partnership with the National Football League and NFL Films. In addition to the $100,000, the NFL provided The HistoryMakers with hundreds of hours of footage from interviews with NFL African American legends from past and present, including dozens of Pro Football Hall of Fame players. They are donating their production services for the interviews of 125 African American football players for inclusion into The HistoryMakers archives.

NFL Films producer Kris Wilson observed Curtis McClinton’s interview session before serving as The HistoryMakers oral history interviewer on November 15, 2022.

Interviewer Larry Crowe interviewed former professional football player Curtis McClinton in partnership with NFL Films on November 15, 2022.

“We are thrilled to team up with The HistoryMakers and contribute to their rich video archives of African American history. This will truly be a mutually beneficial relationship as our NFL Films interviews will be seen by a whole new audience, while The HistoryMakers will be able to add much needed history to its national archives to educate millions for years to come.”

What are Personal Collections (Papers)?

Do I have a personal collection?
In short, you do!
The terms “personal collections” and “papers” can refer to a wide array of materials in various formats:
- Letters/email
- Memoirs/reminiscences
- Diaries/blogs
- Scrapbooks/photo albums
- Professional papers
- Genealogical information
- Speeches/lectures
- Articles/essays
- Subject files
- Legal documents
- Minutes/reports
- Brochures and fliers
- Photographs
- Films/videos/audio tapes
- Websites

Letters, emails, diaries, photos, and other material accumulated over the years give vital and unique information regarding your life or the history of your family. When you donate your personal or family records to a manuscript repository, your family history becomes a part of your community’s collective memory. Although interesting as artifacts, the real worth of your papers lies in their evidentiary value. They are the primary sources upon which the writing of history is based. They permit scholars to reconstruct and understand the past, and set the record straight about events and personalities.

In future years, researchers—including students, professors, genealogists, journalists, and many others—may find your records both interesting and of value to their work.

Who would want my personal collection?
There are numerous institutions that want to collect and preserve your personal materials for research purposes.

How should I prepare?
Make an appointment! Repositories are happy to meet with you to discuss your papers, and any provisions you would like made for them. It is also important that you determine whether or not you will be donating your papers outright, restricting access to the materials, or receiving payment for your collection.

To ensure the preservation of your materials for transfer to a repository, you should keep them in a cool, dry, temperature-stable environment, and any digital materials should be backed up. While your papers need not be organized, “old,” or related to a famous individual, you should identify any photographs, films, or tapes, and any digital files should have names that indicate content or subject matter.

Be sure to contact a repository before you weed, discard, or reorganize papers and records, regardless of their location or format. The research value of records may be diminished if items are removed, or if the records are rearranged. Generally, repositories are more interested in a coherent body of material rather than individual items, and they prefer to receive the original items rather than copies. Once you donate your records, the staff will continue to work with you as you locate or identify other materials to donate, and will work to process your papers by unpacking, sorting, arranging, and describing the materials. Most repositories have a collecting policy that informs their decisions about what to accept.
Digitization Initiative: Serving 20th Century African American Collections with 21st Century Solutions

Society Favors Documentary Evidence
Society places significantly higher value on those who have documentary evidence of their contributions. But significant aspects of 20th Century African American history are missing from today’s historical record. Unfortunately, this is because many of the decision-makers at libraries, archives and museums around the country know so little of the Black Experience. Also, many of the digitized projects of African American materials are scattered or narrowly focused.

“It is essential to capture these HistoryMakers and their unique narratives within the next decade—or it will be too late.”

Lonnie G. Bunch III,
Secretary of the Smithsonian
Digitization Initiative: Serving 20th Century African American Collections with 21st Century Solutions

Less Than 1% of Our HistoryMakers

Have repositories for their personal collections. 2,300 of them are aged 70 and above. Most do not have biographies or documentaries preserving their legacies. Though The HistoryMakers has helped place collections and/or encouraged our HistoryMakers to preserve their personal collections, progress has been slow.

Incomparable, Complete History
The HistoryMakers can pair its video oral history interviews and biographical database with the digitized materials to provide a greater understanding of the Black experience.
Digitization Initiative: Serving 20th Century African American Collections with 21st Century Solutions

Going forward, we can also partner with Colleges and Universities to
• Create Replicable Model
• Save Collections That Would Otherwise Be Lost
• Form a Unique, Visual History With Primary Resources

“We work frequently with teachers and students from community schools and other universities…. A digitization project would definitely be an exciting opportunity.”

2022-2023 Student Ambassadors Program
Student Ambassadors serve as official representatives for The HistoryMakers Digital Archive on their respective campuses. They work to increase awareness, knowledge and use of The HistoryMakers Digital Archive. Additionally, they participated in a summer immersion program where they worked in teams to learn how to use The HistoryMakers Digital Archive, conducted in-depth research, created a weekly blog that they continue to maintain, and developed a marketing plan using their existing contacts, networking skills and campus knowledge to build awareness of the resource on campus. This year, The Boeing Company, Bank of America, and Toyota Motor North America have partnered with The HistoryMakers to provide Historically Black College and Universities with subscriptions to The HistoryMakers Digital Archive and to support a student ambassador at these institutions.
