Rules of Engagement

The deaths of 24 Iraqi civilians at Haditha in late 2005, at first attributed to a bomb explosion, later provoked criminal charges against U.S. Marines. Accusations of war crimes evoked images of the My Lai massacre in Vietnam four decades earlier. FRONTLINE examines the troubling case, revealing new details about the circumstances of the killings, and the complex ground war in Iraq, in Rules of Engagement. Approx. 60 minutes

Walt Whitman

He was hardly the model of a budding poet his later readers might have expected, rising from working-class roots on Long Island to become a newspaper reporter, bureaucrat, and almost improbably, a Civil War-era volunteer caregiver for wounded soldiers, before achieving fame—and notoriety—as a writer. AMERICAN EXPERIENCE focuses on the complicated life of Walt Whitman, whose Leaves of Grass became a standard of American literature. Approx. 120 minutes
